

Mars Class

Happy New Half Term to you all.

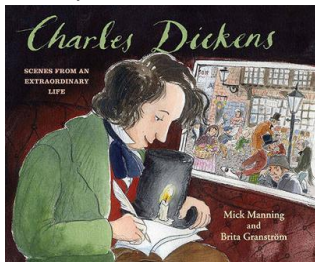

This nasty old thing called Corona Virus has still not taken the hint and decided to leave us, in fact it has decided to stay with us, challenge us just a little bit more. But it will not beat us, so to knock it right back down again, we will continue with our virtual classroom and learning.

I really don't know what the next couple of weeks will bring, but don't worry, whatever happens we will work hard in school to ensure that everyone is happy and safe.

This half term.....

Our learning will see us explore some amazing authors –we will explore the era of Charles Dickens in depth. In Math's we are ready to crack on with our massive unit on decimals and percentages. In English we will kick start our writing and reading with a unit based on a book about Charles Dickens. To delve more into our exciting curriculum for this half term please visit our planning pages in our curriculum section on our website.

Homework....

Will resume when we are back to a 'more' normal school environment!

Reading, lovely reading (of course!) .....

Remember - if you would like to borrow a (fiction) book from our library to have at home to read, you are very welcome to. Please ask. Our class story book is 'Young Nanny' by Frances Mary Hendry.
